VAMA Recommendations To Va. Legislative Council

The Childhood Mental Health Committee of the Va. Association for Mental Health, VAMH, made known its recommendations today to the Virginia Legislative Council, in Richmond, Virginia. State Senator Edward E. Willey is Chairman of the VALC Committee, a legislative committee studying services provided for emotionally disturbed children of the state, directed by the Council in 1968, to make its recommendations known to the Governor by Nov. 1, 1969.

Mrs. Robert L. Miller, of Waynesboro, Virginia, is chairman of the VAMH state committee. Committee members include fifteen professionals from related fields, and parents, who act as resource persons to fifteen local committees. Knowledge gained by these committees through survey, programs and community involvement has been valuable in coordinating efforts, stimulating interest and public awareness in aiding the mentally ill, and all youth of their communities.

Urged by the Childhood Mental Health Committee of the Virginia Association for Mental Health, was the adoption of the legislative proposals as approved by the VAMH, April 17, 1969. Support of the Comprehensive Community Health Service Legislation, and appropriate budget to facilitate current problems.

Six additional recommendations to increase services to ward Childhood Mental Health and for the treatment and prevention of mental illness in children and adolescents were:

1. A Director of Children's Services in the Department of Mental Hygience to coordinate efforts between them, the Director of Special Education,and the Department of Education.

2. Appropriation of funds for a State program to enable a partnership between local mental health agencies and school systems, in an effort to develope and provide special education facilities for emotionally disturbed children, and their parents.

3. Regional residential, and day care facilities for diagnosis and treatment of severely handicapped children, as a joint school system – mental health agency responsibility.

4. Increased pupil scholarship aid (where no public education is available) for handicapped children.

5. Additional state aid to localities for special education personnel.

6. That the existing problems involving the Children's Unit at Eastern State and the resignation of its Director of Training and Reserch be discussed with those people concerned. The loss of the Children's Unit program, and its Director, Dr. John Mullaney, would be a double tragedy.

In closing, Mrs. Miller quoted from remarks made by Jason Paige, Jr., President of VAMH, at a hearing of the Commission on Mental, Indigent and Geriatric Patients. Mr. Paige recognized the value of the study of the VALC Committee on the needs of children, but emphasized the possibility of the needs of the adolescents being overlooked by Senator Willey's group and the Geriatric Commission. Mr. Paige pointed out that it is among young people under 21 years of age, that the incidence of mental illness is increasing most rapidly, drug addiction becomes more frightening, and suicide the number one cause of death among college students.

4-H Member Attends Short Course

Zandra Crain, 4-H member in the Ivey Clover 4-H Club attended Citizenship Short Course at the National 4-H Center July 6-12.

The National 4-H Center is a "working memorial to 4-H in the Nation's Capital." Formerly the Chevy Chase Junior College, it was purchased in 1951. The purpose of the center is to provide facilities for training 4-H members in citizenship and leadership.

Citizenship Shortcouse is designed to help us as participants develop a greater understanding and appreciation of our American Heritage and government.It helps us develop skills for practicing and teaching citizenship at the local 4-H Club level.

At Shortcouse I was given the opportunity to meet and work with 4-H'ers from many other states. We had meetings where we learned how to work with our clubs to improve ourselves and our community.

Each day we were taken on tours of Washington D.C. These and the talks given by our guides were very inspiring and educational.

Citizenship Shortcourse is one of the most interesting

4-H Camp At Holiday Lake

by G. L. James

Camp for Appomattox 4-H members this past week was the biggest and best ever. Over 200 campers!

The youngsters thoroughly enjoyed their camping period. We could tell by the loud "How-Howe"! (Expression from a happy Indian)

Although Appomattox 4-H'ers camped with fellow members from Amherst and Nottoway the symbol of the peace pipe prevailed and not one war party was formed.

We must give the highest compliments to the campers and their parents, for the permanent camp staff stated we had the largest, but most cooperative and orderly camp they had worked with all season. If the parents send good little Indians – then we can have a big camp of all good Indians.

We cannot say enough about the fine cooperation the Extension Staff experienced from this year's 4-H campers and Junior Leaders.

4-H'ers reported that they enjoyed the following classes: swimming, wildlife and trapping, canoeing, rifle marksmanship and safety, archery, joyfully we sing, fun with foods, charcoal sketching, handicrafts – drawstring purses, trash cans bulletin boards, moccasins,bird houses, stools, billfolds. Along with the varied classes offered on the program this year, we added horsemanship. Much progress has been made; ie, riding ring and stalled barn and feed room almost completed – we have great plans for this feature.

4-H'ers overflowed the class in horsemanship according to Mr. Jesse Judy, Extension Aide.

4– camping is a wonderful and wholesome experience for young 4-H'ers' if you doubt this, ask any camper who has been to camp this season.

Although we had a large camp this year, we will continue to encourage all 4-H members to attend 4– camp as part of their experiences in the 4-H program.

Again we salute the parents of the fine young 4-H members who attended last week's camp session.

Short Courses I have ever attended. It is developing the citizens and leaders of tomorrow.

4-Hers Attend Conservation Camp

Becky Harris, Loretta Walker, and Phillip Inge attended Conservation Camp at 4– H Camp for outstanding 4-H'ers that are interested in conserving Virginia Natural Resources.

Each 4-H'er participated in classes in soil conservation, entomology, wildlife, forestry, and oceanography. The 4-H'ers also selected classes in archery, rifle marksmanship and safety, teen talks, human conservation, and ecology.

Highlights of the classes at Conservation Camp according to Loretta Walker were discussing bees, wasps, and other insects in their harmful and beneficial roles, learning about the habitats and reasons for extinction of various animals; seeing the swamp, quick sand and other natural wonders on the ecology hike, and shooting the rifles on the rifle range.

Campers were divided up into four Indian tribes and they competed in sports and campfire challenges and skits each day. Each night a different program was planned that added excitement and enjoyment for all 4-H'ers reports Phillip Inge.

Becky Harris reports that they participated in various types of sports such as basketball, softball, ping pong, volleyball, horseshoes, and swimming. Becky encourages any 4-H'er who has a chance to participate in this camp.

Dudley Attends FFA Conference

William Dudley, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dudley of Pamplin, Va., attended the State Officer Leadership Training Conference for the Virginia Association of Future Farmers of America held August 4-9 at FFA-FHA Camp near Smithfield, Va. The conference is the first official meeting of the newly elected State Officers and is designed to help prepare them for the coming year. William is the State Treasurer of the Virginia Association.

J. W. Myers, Asst. State Supervisor of Vocational Agriculture, and W. C. Dudley, Convention Advisor, conducted the conference. Glenn Weber, National Vice-President from the North Atlantic Region, assisted these men throughout the week by relating ideas and programs which he was acquainted with on the national level. Professor C. S. McLeare from V.P.I. also took part in the conference.

Leadership training is a influtial part of FFA and encompasses a outstanding portion of a State Officers responsibility. While attending the conference, the officers come in contact with almost all forms of leadership trainin. Ideas which state officers should relate to chapter throughout the year are discussed thoroughly and stressed heavily along with other materials which will be helpful to them in carrying out their office.

The Pastor Speaks

Still Paying the Premium

Luke 7:42

"And when they had nothing to pay, He frankly forgave them both."

A number of years ago, while pastoring a new church in Roanoke Rapids, N. C., I had an insurance route. To most people, the great depression of the thirty's has been forgotten in the wave of our present day prosperities. Out of those hard times however, come a story which has a strange ending, yet teaches a powerful lesson. A tired, timid old lady approached the first desk she saw in the insurance office one day and when asked what she wanted, she showed a policy, explaining that she was unable to pay additional premiums on it. She said that it was hard to get work and what little she did was hardly enough to clothe and feed her, and keep a roof over her head. After a quick investigation, the manager saw that the policy was very valuable. He warned the elderly lady that she was making an unwise move to stop payments. Besides, did not her husband have a policy that he had? The policy made out to her benefit. She explained quickly that her husband had been dead for three years. Immediately the company officials went into action. They soon discovered that she was telling the truth, and as a result, far from her owing the company money, they owed her money. They owed her the excess premium money she had paid in with interest, plus the full amount the husband had insured his life in her favor. The check was sufficient to keep her in comfort the rest of her life. She had not realized that she was entitled to the face value of the policy as soon as her husband died.

Listen! The greatest benefit of all time became due when the Lord Jesus Christ died on the Cross, but millions of people continue trying to make payments on their own soul's salvation, while all they need to do is receive the immeasurable gift that is their's through the death, burial and resurrection of our Saviour.

Are you still trying to pay installments on a "bill" that you can never pay or have you accepted Christ as your release from sin's debt? The world is divided into two groups of people, the saved and the lost. Where do you stand today my friend?

"Not the labors of my hands, Can fulfill Thy laws demand, All for sin could not atone, Thou must save and Thou alone."

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE GRASSHOPPER COMPLEX

Lesson for August 17, 1969

Background Scripture: Numbers 13 through 14.
Devotional Reading: Exodus 34: 1-10.

Look out for the grasshopper complex! There are many Christians afflicted with it today. Even worse, it seems contagious, like the disease that is carried from one victim to another.

Of course, this is not a new malady to mankind. The Hebrews knew of it. The Old Testament books of Joshua and Numbers mention it, particularly in the story of Calab. He was, you will remember, one of a number of spies whom Moses sent into the land of Canaan. When they returned to give their report, most of them painted a very dark picture. The people of Canaan were very large in size and well-equipped in weapons. Compared to the Canaanites, the spies said, the people of Israel would be as grasshoppers.

Different Perspective

There was a minority report, however. Caleb, though he had seen the same sights and had been to the same places, saw things differently. "Let us go up at once and occupy it," he urged, "for we are well able to overcome it!" (Numbers 13:30). He saw no giants, just men; not a hopeless situation, but an opportunity.

Unfortunately, the Israelites rejected Caleb's view and accepted the gloomy picture drawn up by the other spies. They preferred to believe that the job was too big for them. But what a price they paid for this decision! Because of this choice, God told them they would not enter the promised land now, but would have to spend an additional forty years in the wilderness. Their grasshopper complex cost them their hope of crossing over into the promised land in their lifetime. This lack of faith had demonstrated them to be a generation unfit for the promise. Instead it would be given to their children.

Not Optimism

We must not make the mistake of thinking that God rewarded Caleb simply because he gave an optimistic report. Nor should we assume that the people of Israel were penalized simply because they had accepted the negative report. Optimism is not the issue here, for there are many times when an optimistic point of view is mere wishful thinking.

For example, there are many times in the lives of individuals and in the history of Israel when prophets like Amos, Hosea, Jeremiah, and others brought very negative reports to the people, prophesying great doom. Opposing these spokesmen for God were certain false prophets who optimistically told the people what they wanted to hear, predicting prosperity and peace. In these times, it was the negative report that truly reflected the message of God to His people.

No, Caleb wasn't rewarded simply because he gave an optimistic report rather than a negative one, but because he reported what God had revealed to him. Thus, he "wholly followed the Lord." He reported what God revealed to him as the truth.

A Lack of Faith

The canaanites were strong and well-equipped for war as the other spies had reported, but Caleb remembered something which the others had forgotten: the Lord. With God's help the land could be won, despite the strength of the Canaanites. Their negative report therefore was a lack of faith in God's promise.

Thus, the sin of the people was not that they saw giants as great warriors as they saw themselves, but rather, for the reflection upon God that thus afflicted their perception of the promised land.

So it is with us today. Obstacles are real, difficulties are many, but we must not forget that we are to go forth alone, but with us to guide us is He with at our right hand, the throne of the universe.
